Work to Begin at Once on Two SERA Projects

Work will start immediately in Nevada City upon two SERA projects which have been approved. The first is the laying of new water mains, and the second, is the clearing and improvement of the Municipal park around the swimming pool.

A new pipe line is to be laid from East Broad at Nivens alley to Sugar Loaf reservoir. This will be an eight inch main. Another line of 4 inch pipe will be laid from Coyote to Main street through Alexander st., These projects will mean the expenditure of approximate $1,199 for labor, and $2,357 for pipe. The swimming pool and park project will require the expenditure of $3,140 for labor. The city will spend approximately $600 for materials.

In ditch digging and pipe laying 17 men will be employed. In the park the clearing and improving will employ 20 men.

In the park improvement it is proposed to cover the slopes of the embankment resulting from the pool excavation with stone rip-rap and sodding some of the slopes to prevent erosion.

DRUNK DRIVING DEATH TOLL IN CALIF. GAINING

What is California going to do about the problem of drunken driving?

Urging concerted action as a means of providing an answer to this question, the California State Automobile Association in a statement today pledged full support to arresting officers, prosecutors, and the courts in their efforts to curb the intoxicated driver. The Association meanwhile expressed the view that strict enforcement and drastic penalties cannot alone solve the problem.

"The answer probably will not be found," the statement declared, "until public opinion becomes general and alert and uncompromising toward the drunken driver, and until each motorist takes upon himself the obligation of not driving when he has been drinking. What one may think of prohibition or repeal is beside the point. The immediate question is the fact that the motoring public faces a condition of graver threat than any of recent years."

Official records cited by the Association show a 23 per cent increase in the number of traffic accidents due to drunken driving during the first nine months of this year. These accidents were responsible for about 300 deaths, almost equal to the whole increase in traffic deaths in the state.

The viewpoint of enforcement officers concerning the drunken driving situation is present by the Association in a statement made by E. Raymond Cato, Chief of the California Highway Patrol, as follows:

"We experience difficulty not so much in making arrests as we do in securing complaints and convictions. There is a serious lack of uniformity in the method of handling these cases, attributable to a degree to the state of public opinion in different communities. There are suspended sentences and small fines in many cases which merit jail sentences. With provision for a misdemeanor charge where no damage or injury to others has been caused by the offender there would be greater certainty of punishment and flagrant violators would have less chance of getting off lightly. Officers must have public cooperation and support if they are to be successful in meeting this serious situation of drunken driving."

H. L. ENGLEBRIGHT SPEAKS AT INSTITUTE

The Nevada County Teacher's Institute, convened in the Nevada City high school, adjourned Wednesday after passing a resolution to hold the institute in Sacramento next year.

At the last session of the teacher's institute held Wednesday afternoon, Congressman H. L. Englebright gave an interesting talk on the procedures of the House of Representatives and election of various officers. In conclusion he complimented the teachers in their teaching so earnestly and sincerely the preservation of our democracy.

Mr. George, musical instructor of Grass Valley, and several pupils, rendered some musical numbers that were enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Schiffner spent Tuesday in Sacramento.

RED CROSS DONATIONS CONTINUE TO POUR IN

Red Cross donations continue to pour in to swell the Nevada City quota. Additional contributors are:

Mrs. Fred Deal, Mrs. George Danos, Mrs. S. J. Carr, Mrs. Mary D Warnecke, Mrs. S. S. Trevethick, Mrs. Annie Whitford, Joe G. O'Neill Mr. J. W. O'Neill, John W. O'Neill, Mrs. F. F. Cassidy, Mrs. Bettles, Henry O'Neill, Mrs. F. W. Medlin. Total, $11.50. Mrs. M. D. Warnecke and Mrs. J. W. O'Neill, collectors for Main street.

Later donations W Jeffery, Wade Armstrong, Mary Hoskings, Mrs. F. Guenther, Miss Nolan, Ben Hall, M. J. Clark McGinness, Mrs. George W. Downey, Miss Getrude Goyne, W. A. Carlson, Miss Jane Springer, Mrs. R. B. Springer. Total $10.

MODERN HOME NOW BUILDING

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Smith are rushing construction of a part of their new home on one of the Theodore Nelson lots at Nevada City's northeastern limits. When completed they will have a beautiful new modern home.

Mr. Nelson placed four lots on the market about three months ago and Mr. Smith purchased the last one unsold a short time ago. The others were sold to Mr. and Mrs. H S. Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones, who have each built nice new homes.

Mr. Smith is from the Peninsula below San Francisco and has just completed the Gove Celio log house. He is to start in a few days on enlargement and changing of the home of Mr. Jack Carney, of Lost Hill in Nevada City.

Building materials for the erection of these new buildings were purchased locally.

TAILINGS IN GOLD FLAT WILL BE WORKED

It is understood W. L. Lotz and partners are preparing to work part of the tailings of an old concentrating plant on his property on Gold Flat, south of Nevada City. Mr. Maltman operated the concentrate plant in early days which was later purchased by Benj. Hall, present owner. Two dams were constructed on the stream below the plant, the lower dam being on the old Jetchell property now owned by Mr. Lotz, the other part being owned by Mr. Ray Teale. An assay on the concentrates about eight years ago ran $2 to the ton old value of gold.

HOGE DEVELOPMENT SUES HUSSEY MINE

Claiming ownership of the Hussey mine property, the Hoge Development company has filled suit against Henry Hussey, West Mines, Tom Coan and the California Sierra Gold Mines, Ltd., to determine the rights of the plaintiff and the defendants.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendants are now unlawfully mining and removing valuable ore from the property of the plaintiff and that the defendants claim they have the legal right so to do, which is denied by plaintiff, and that the defendants have threatened to and will unless restrained continue to mine and remove and dispose of the ore so mined from the property of plaintiff.

BUCK DEER WEARING BELL BUT NO HORNS SHOWS LOTS OF FIGHT

Standing in the middle of the road near Pike City last Tuesday, C. M. Brown and his young son, of this city, last week saw a deer that gave evidence of owning all he surveyed. He wore a bell around his neck and his antlers were sawed off short. Brown got out of his car and tied to shove the deer out of the road.

The deer gave shove for shove, and push for push. He used his sawed off horns for all they were worth. Seeing that he was getting nowhere with this animal, Brown got back into his car, the deer helping with his stub horns. The door was slammend in the buck's face and he butted the door. Brown started homeward and the belligerant deer followed for two miles, tossing his head with a defy, everytime Brown looked around. Finally the pace became too fast and the deer was lost to view.

WOMAN'S CIVIC CLUB TO BRING JOY TO KIDDIES

The Woman's Civic Club with Mrs. George Gildersleeve presiding, had a spirited meeting on Monday night and accomplished much business for the end of the year. It was roll call night and there were many interesting responses.

Christmas work was discussed and plans decided upon. Five dollars was voted to be given to the Northern California Disabled Veterans Christmas fund to be presented through Mrs. Hathaway, of Sacramento district chairman of soldiers' welfare work.

The Community Christmas tree will again be taken care of by the Civic Club this year. They decided to illuminate a beautiful tree in the court house yard as was done last year. It is to be a "White Christmas" again this year and the school children will bring their gifts for others wrapped in white. The teachers will take care of this part of the program. Gifts brought will be turned over to the benevolent society for distribution. The school children, will this year, be the happy recipients of a bag of candy at the Christmas tree. The Native Daughters will take care of this feature of the program. They will make and fill a Christmas bag for each child. The Civic Club voted five dollars to help buy the candy. The Tahoe-Ukiah Forest will present the big Christmas tree.

Mr. C. M. Brown addressed the club briefly on the subject of city planning and zoning. The ladies were greatly interested. He pointed out the unpleasant features of unrestricted districts.

As at present, there are no building restrictions in Nevada City, there is nothing to prevent a person from putting up a shack or a little corner store, etc., in the midst of our residential district.

The president appointed a committee consisting of Mrs. Arthur Hoge and Mrs. Robert Nye to inquire into city planning, to lean what city ordinances there are to control such building, and to present their findings at the next meeting which will be on Monday, December 10.

OCTETTE TO SING IN TRINITY SUNDAY NIGHT

Music will be featured at Trinity church next Sunday evening when, it is announced by the rector, the Rev. Charles Washburn, an octette will sing a group of sacred songs.

The members of this organization consist of Chester Prisk, Alfred Phillips, Fred Clemo, W. J. Pascoe, S. L. Crase, John Gilbert and Peter Lowen.

The song service will consist of the following: "My Shepherd," "Pilot Me," Vesper Song," "Softly Now the Light of Day," and "Gallilee." Miss Dorothy Perry will be the accompaniest.

W. G. RICHARDS' FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

The funeral of W. G. Richards, beloved pioneer of this city, 82 years of age, will take place this afternoon from Trinity Episcopal church at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Richards passed away Tuesday night. Born in Michigan, November 23, 1852, the deceased came to Nevada City with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Richards, when a young boy. He received his education here and in Grass Valley. As a young man he joined the rush to Virginia City, where for a time he worked in the famous Con. Virginia mine. Later he engaged in business with the late J. J. Jackson.

In 1879 he was married to Miss Mary Elizabeth Gluyas, his wife who now survives him. The association with J. J. Jaskson was eventually abandoned and Mr. Richards engaged in business by himself. For 40 years he conducted a store on Broad street, giving it up finally to retire in 1922.

The entire community mourns the passing of Mr. Richards, known all through his life for kindness and charity.

Surviving him, besides Mrs. Richards, are four children: G. J. Richards, of Auburn; G. W. Richards, of Sacramento; Mrs. E. M. Rector, of Nevada City, and Mrs. Marian Libbey, of Eureka.

The services this afternoon will be under the direction of W. R. Jefford and Son.

"TRAVELING CROOK" FOR LOCAL I. O. O. F.

Mistletoe Encampment of the Odd Fellows met in the Odd Fellow hall Tuesday evening and received the "travling crook," a cane or crook of orange wood that is carried in an orange wood box. It started from Anaheim lodge in 1929, and has been taken to many lodges. Union encampment of Grass Valley, with Jack Nettle, as acting chief patriarch, made the presentation speech. The crook will remain in the Nevada City lodge two meetings and then be taken by Tom Haddy, chief patriarch of the local encampment, and his officers to another lodge.

After the meeting a delicious turkey dinner was enjoyed by the members and visitors.

SALMON MINE TO BE REOPENED

J. B. Truitt, of Nevada City and C. E. Clendenen are reopening the Salmon mine. A complete sampling outfit, compressor and hoist have been installed and sampling of the property is underway. The old Ledbetter shaft is down 160 feet and the Salmon shaft 120 feet. Good ore was taken from upper levels of the mine in past operations. The property was operated for a time in 1929.

BAD WRECK OCCURS ON THE DOWNIEVILLE ROAD

E. W. Kendrick, driver for the Union Ice Company, of Nevada City, on his trip to Downieville Tuesday, passed an auto wreck which had evidently just occurred, north of Camptonville. A Ford truck and a Dodge touring car had met in a headon collision. One man was critically injured and was taken to a Marysville hospital. It was reported later in Downieville that the man had died from the injuries.

BULLION MINE ACTIVE

Operations have been resumed on an active basis at the Grass Valley Bullion mine, two miles below Grass Valley on the Auburn highway, following litigation in the San Francisco courts which involved the boundary lines and rights of an apex vein between the Bullion and the Empire-Star Mines Company, Ltd. Ore is being mined on the 800 foot and 1,500 foot levels and hauled to the Hoge Development mill, north of Nevada City, to be milled.

Foreign War Veterans To Hold Rally Here

Banner Mountain Post, V. F. W., have made arrangements for their big rally and parade to be held in Nevada City Sunday, December 2.

Their program will start at 1:30 and will include the following; Massed Colors of posts of Auburn, Roseville, Placerville, Lincoln, Sacramento, Marysville, Willows, Oroville, and Nevada City.

Canadian Legion kiltie band with bagpipes, of Sacramento, which is very colorful.

Drum and Burgle Corps of Landsdale Post, Sacramento.

Riley-Bluett Post drum and bugle corps, of Sacramento. Riley-Bluett Post Auxiliary team.

Banner Mountain Post members and Auxiliary.

Immediately after the parade Banner Mountain Post will initiate eight candidates and install their newly elected officers at a public ceremony in Odd Fellows hall. The new officers are: C. E. Bosworth, commander; C. E. Lee, first vice commander; Ed Rose, second vice commander; Earl Raymond, chaplain; Mayor F. Chapman, quartermaster; W. Butz, officer of the day; Adjutant, C. H. Cleland, post advocate; Omar Tonella, patriotic instructor; John Figurski, guard and sentinel; Max Weis, color bearer; William Gracey, historian; Frank Wright, service officer.

Dinner and an excellent program of entertainment will start at 3:30 p. m. which is open to the public.

Banner Post will hold a private council meeting at the Native Sons hall at 7:00 p. m.

A number of state department officers are to attend the big event and it is expected it will be one of the finest and most colorful affairs given here in many months. All ex-service men and wives are especially urged to be present.

Anyone wishing to make reservations for the dinner please notify Max Weis, who is to be in charge of the dinner. Mr. Weis is noted for his culinary arts and all are assured of a splendid repast.

No Politics for This LaFollette

Though her name is famed in the realm of politics, Marion La-Follette, 22, is in Hollyw headed for a movie career. cousin of Wisconsin's senator and governor-elect, Marion, above, won't enter politics, as her dad wishes her to, unless her film ambitions fall short of their goal.

VICIOUS THUGS STILL AT LARGE

Sheriff George Carter yesterday stated that no arrests have yet been made in connection with attempted robbery and the shooting of Rex Poindexter, barkeeper of the Dewdrop Inn last Tuesday night.

John Decker and Poindexter were on duty during the evening. Two men posing as miners idled away time until 10:30, when one of them went outside and started the motor of their car. Returning he commanded "hands up." Decker obeyed but Poindexter made for his rifle in the rear room. The robbers fired. One bullet penetrated Poindexter's lung, and another his forearm.

WESLEY DAVIS OPENING UP GRAVEL PROPERTY

Wesley Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis, of Willow Valley, who has been building a log house on the Davis property, has in the last three months undertaken to work 160 acres of gravel channel near Sutter Creek. The property is the old Arthur Beslie ground and there is an oiled road to the place.

He stated Tuesday that the gravel is six feet deep and averages $2 per yard, in nuggets and coarse gold. Some of the nuggets taken out run as high as $60 and $70. He estimates there are 80,000 yards of virgin gravel in this old property with plenty of water. The work is slow for one person and Mr. Davis is endeavoring to interest capital in his project.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shurtleff spent Thanksgiving with their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Hall and family in Grass Valley.

PATROL LEADERS POW WOW NOV. 30

Plans have been completed for the 5th Patrol Leaders Pow-Wow, to be held at the Methodist church, Auburn, Friday, November 30. It is expected that 70 scouts from the troops of Placer, Nevada and western Sierra counties will attend the opening ceremonies at 9 a. m.

The Knights of Dunamis, eagle scout organization, held two meetings this last week to complete the plans and program. Leaders for discussion groups have been selected, new songs prepared and new ideas on patrol methods will be advanced by these group leaders following the enclosed program.

Patrol Camping, Harry Goudge and Adolph Santaga; Patrol Organization and Patrol Meetings, Sam Partridge and Jack Gordon; Patrol Leadership and Instruction, Fred Stephen and Vincent Brundage; Patrol Hikes, Ben Ramsey and Wilson Hatch; Patrol Stunts and Community Service, Douglass Conway and Elwyn Gregory; Patrol Activities, Projects, Ellis Fisher and Don Wilson; Troop Meetings and Programs, Scoutmaster A. Wilson; Duties of the Junior Assistant Scoutmaster, Virgil Harden and Sam Partridge; Presentation of Training Certificates and Conference Pictures, Tahoe Area Council, Commissioner W. H. Seaver; Summary of Conference, Harris Ricksecker, Scout Executive.

Group leaders will be Don Wilson, Frank Law, Roy Berry, Ellis Fisher, Jack Schultz, and Bob Taylor. A special program will be lead at the noon luncheon by Knights of Dunamis, Commander Bob Robinson. Mothers of the scouts of Troop No. 3 and No. 19 at Auburn are preparing the lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bosworth and family enjoyed Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Perry and family in Newcastle.

BARBER SAVES LEG, DESPITE PHONE ORDER

Bill Young, chief assistant in the Larsen barber shop, was called out to cut the tresses of two very estimable Nevada City ladies in their home. While there, the husband of one of the ladies called his home on the phone and said: "I have sent that bird," (Meaning the Thanksgiving turkey). One of the ladies answered: (Meaning Bill Young), "yes he is here now and thanks ever so much." The husband (still referring to the turkey) said: 'Cook one of his legs for me for dinner tonight."

HAVE WE TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT?

Now that the election is over and the officials named for the ensuing term it might not be amiss to direct attention to the cost of our system of government.

According to recent census figures the tax payers of the United States support 3,062 county governments, 16,659 city governments, 128,548 school districts and 19,769 township organizations. The question before the citizens of this country is whether there are too many organizations for modern needs.

We have no objection to any of these arms of government if the taxpayers are willing to pay for them. However, the average citizen of this republic pays $71.09 each year to support them, when many of them could be eliminated without crippling government in the least.

RECOGNIZE MANCHUKUO?

(Contributed)

Japan plays a very clever diplomatic game with the other nations in regard to her puppet-state of Manchukuo, carved out of Manchuria, Jehol, and other Chinese territory, stolen from the ancient nation by the Japenese army.

The Japanese absolutely dominate the little puppet-state. Japanese citizens, many of them army officers, have been appointed in high state positions, but Japan maintains the fiction to the outside world that they are officers of Manchukuo, and smilingly denies that the actions of the little country are in any way controlled by Nippon.

The other day the government of Manchukuo announced plans for an oil monopoly, ostensibly for itself but in reality for the benefit of the Japs. British and American oil companies, facing heavy losses out there, called the attention of their governments to the program, as did the Dutch oil firm. Then, the farce began.

The three governments, none of which had recognized the independence of the little state, addressed their protests to the Japs at Tokio. They smiled, refused to admit any responsibility, and informed the complaining nations to make their representations to the government of Manchukuo. This they can not do without recognizing the state. So, its either recognize the state or let it do as it pleases.

So, by the fiction of an independent state, Japan carries forward its plans in Manchukuo, without assuming any responsibility. With its large army and powerful navy, the Japanese Empire is ready to fight any nation which seeks to challenge its right to the soils and booty of the Manchurian invasion.

Mother's Thanksgiving

The Old Home and the New

The old home stands by a silvery stream,
About it are swaying trees;
The gardens are gay with exotic flowers
That perfume the passing breeze.

There are graveled drive ways and smiling towers,
The portals are wide and tall,
But in golden dreams of the twilight hour,
I'm hearing the new home call.

The new home waits in a quiet vale,
About it is never a tree;
But in fancy, I walk with joy and pride
Through the gardens that are to be.

Trees and flowers that we shall plant—
I see them all in my dreams,
While the evening star, like a taper tall,
Through the dusk of the twilight gleams.

Home of my youth by the wimpling stream,
With your memories of years gone by,
I shall think of you often in days to come—
Perchance with a tear and a sigh.

But the little, new home in the quiet vale
Is calling, calling to me
And I walk in a maze of golden dreams
Through the gardens that are to be.

—A. Merriam Conner.

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Alexander McNulty

LIGHT AHEAD

Convinced that the methods in use during the past eighteen months of trying to 'prime the pump' by means of direct relief payments to those in need have failed in their purpose, the Administration now intends a radical departure from present procedure.

There is nothing to be gained in reviewing the reasons for failure of present methods. In fact they cannot be said to have failed, inasmuch as they obviated untold suffering, maintained business on an even keel and without doubt prevented disastrous social disorders. On the other hand, the basic foundation of present recovery measures are of necessity laid out along lines of a bare existence for approximately 25 per cent of our total population—what is known as an economy of scarcity. Obviously, with so many millions of people virtually without purchasing power and with those who control the great bulk of the money and credit of the nation unwilling or unable to initiate activity, things seemed to be at a standstill.

The outlook for the future, in view of the attitude of both the Administration and organized business, seems indeed broght. On the part of business and capital, there can be no doubt that they read clearly in the recent manifestation of the people at the polls, that further liberalism and reform was the order of the day. Realizing that conditions could not long continue as they are and have been, and fearful of a sudden and swift move toward Socialism or State Socialism, organized business now shows greater willingness to cooperate in aiding recovery than ever before. On the part of government, it also now mainifests willingness to cooperate closer with business.

Briefly, the new projected idea is that all industry and business be immediately put into full capacity production; the idea being of course, that in this manner, there would be employment for all and, consequently, with this revived purchasing power, all production would be distributed and consumed. This is what is known as an economy of plenty.

While both government and business are in accord on the general tenor of this plan, within each group are two schools of thought.—One school advocates that government withdraw completely from business, giving is an entirely free hand—The other school believes that government must exercise still greater control and closer relationship with business than at present. This school even advocates that government should subsidize business to the extent of guaranteeing a reasonable profit under the proposed full production schedule being considered.

The basic principle is good. It recognizes the great truth that there can be no prosperity until we have a full and generous production of all things and a steady consumption of these things.

It is inconceivable however, that the suggestion that government withdraw from the realm of business entirely be seriously considered. Such a procedure would result in chaos. Such business and industry that happens to be in a favorable posittion thru the deflation of property and commodity values would, in the merciless competition that would ensue, be able to make profits for a time. The result of such un-controled and un-regulated competition would soon prove utterly disastrous. On the other hand, a proper balance, wherein business and government, with full representation and recognition of the rights of consumers, labor and all the other elements of society; can build an economic structure that will withstand any storm.

CAMPTONVILLE SERA PROJECT IS NOW UNDER WAY

CAMPTONVILLE, Nov. 27.—The Camptonville SERA projects, one for grading and improving the school grounds painting the two school buildings and the general Camptonville Townsite improvement, were approved a few days ago, and Monday morning a crew of eight men started work cleaning the public cemetery, and more men will be put on just as soon as they are certified for the work by Yuba County Emergency Relief Director Miss Margaret Mack.

The school project calls for painting both buildings in and out, and grading the grounds, trimming the trees, etc., and the hauling of granite to cover the grounds. This work is expected to start in a few days.

As soon as the cemetery improvement is fininshed, the men will begin working on a fire break on the dangerous borders of the townsite which presents a hazardous condition during the fire season.

When this is completed some street improvement will be done, and if any time remains, the road from the townsite to the Sierra county line will be improved.

The Camptonville public cemetery, one of the oldest in the mountains, is full and no room remains for more plots, the community for quite some time facing a condition with no public burial ground. To remedy this conditon, Fred B. Hanson is devoting a portion of his adjoining property to the cemetery, planning to fence a piece 247 feet by 60 feet, which will be disposed of in lots as occasion arises. No work is being done by the SERA on the Odd Fellows or Masonic grounds, both of them being owned by private institutions, and not eligible for relief work.

Two Forest Service projects have likewise been approved, the Garden Valley road and Moonshine road, both of which will be started as soon as enough relief workers are signed up.

NEW OWNER FOR STUDIO COURT

Ed Moore, of Los Angeles, has purchased the Studio Court of seven cottages and garages near Shaw's Fruit Stand, between Nevada City and Grass Valley. Mr. Moore is to start construction o ftwo new modern cottages and two garages on the tract in the next few days.

He's New Head Of Labor Board

WORK BEGUN ON PASQUALI ROAD

Supervisor Cary S. Arbogast started a crew to work Tuesday morning on the Pasquali road, east of Nevada City. If the weather permits, the road will be rocked a half mile and a number of mud holes are to be filled.

This road which leads into the Quaker Hill district is a rough, steep mountain road, which is used by mining men, the Tahoe National Forest, P. G. and E., hunters and fishermen. The Forest Service has had a crew at work on the road practically all summer and Supervisors C. S. Arbogast of this district and Alex Robinson, of Hobart Mills, have combined crews to do a lot of work on the road this spring. The steep Quaker Hill Grade has been eliminated by reconditioning the Pasquaili road.

MR. AND MRS. CLINCH IN GOLDEN WEDDING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clinch, of Grass Valley, returned this week from a two weeks vacation trip. The trip was in celebration of their golden wedding. They visited many of the Southern California cities and went into old Mexico, having a wonderful time.

Mr. Clinch observed that conditions everywhere seem to be improving and everyone feels that things are on the up grade. Everyone seems to know of Grass Valley and Nevada City and he believes that with an advertising program, the two cities could induce many of the easterners who settle in the south to choose this beautiful spot for their home.

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT CHILDREN OF TRANSIENTS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—Ten thousand poor children whom Santa Claus forgot last Christmas, will be remembered during the coming Yuletide by Uncle Sam in the role of St. Nicholas, as the result of a toy-making project initiated by the Federal Transient Service.

Ten thousand toys, one for each child in the thousands of destitute non-resident families of California now receiving relief through the government transient organization, are in the process of manufacture, according to the announcement of Raymond E. Hoyt, in charge of education and recreation for the Transient Service in the state.

The toy-makers are itinerant men who, because of age or physical incapacity, could not be assigned to the regular work camps for transients which the government has established in California. Their workshop is located at 318 West Market street in San Diego, where they are fashioning playthings out of scrap material donated by business firms.

Besides these toys, dolls and doll clothes are being made by a group of transient women working at a Federal Transient project in El Centro, according to Hoyt.

When completed, the Christmas gifts will be distributed to transient children who otherwise would go toyless during the Yuletide.

"Pack your things quickly and hurry over to the cave on this side." Then Jim picked up Hays' gun from the table and ran out. First he removed the gag, then in terse terms he stated the situation. Next he released the robber from his painful fix and handed him the gun.

"Heeseman, huh! Wal, so be it!" Hays said, facing Jim with an air of finality that intimated relief.

"How far are they away?" he asked.

"Two miles."

"We've got half an hour—mebbe. Did you think to look fer the hosses?"

"Eight horses in the—valley. Others not in sight."

"Fine scout you air. How come you didn't spy them soon enough fer us to rustle out of hyar?"

"I couldn't have seen them half a mile sooner," snapped Jim. "They came out from behind a bank."

"Hell's fire! Tell thet to me? You was sleepin'."

"You're a liar," flashed Jim, leaping clear of the others. "Open your trap to me again like that!"

"Say, it's you who'll shet his trap," replied Hays, stridently. "Or you'll git a dose of the medicine I gave Brad Lincoln."

"Not from you—you yellow dog of a woman thief!"

Smoky Slocum ran out in time to get in front of Jim.

"Hyar! Hyar!" he called, piercingly. "Is this a time fer us to fight each other? Cool down, Jim. Make allowances fer Hays. He's wuss'n drunk."

"I don't care a d—n if there's ten outfits on our trail. He can't talk to me that way. . . . And, Smoky, I reckon you're presuming on friendship."

"Shore I am," returned Slocum, hurriedly. "I'll not do it again, Jim. Hays is what you called him. But leave your dispute till we settle with Heeseman."

"All right. You're talking sense," replied Jim. He had been quick to grasp the opening made by Hays. "There must be ten riders in Heeseman's outfit."

"Wal, thet suits me," rejoined the robber, harshly.

"Now think fast," snapped Smoky.

Hays pulled himself together. "Mac, you an' Jeff run to fetch what hosses you can find quick. . . . Jack, you an' Smoky an' Wall hustle the grub, cook kit, packs an' beds into thet cave across the wash. I'll git up high an' watch. When I yell, dig fer cover."

"You aimin' to fight or run?" queried Smoky.

"We might git packed light, if somethin' holds them up. But we can't leave the way we come in. Dirty Devil too high. Heeseman has stumbled on the next best way. If we had plenty of time. . . But rustle, everybody."

Mac and Jeff were already in lumbering flight up the oval. And Happy Jack, not concerned enough to stop his whistling, was sacking his utensils. Hays made for the notch in the bluff west of the cabin. Jim sprang into action, while Smoky dashed off toward the cottonwood grove.

Upon Jim's first return trip from the cave he encountered the girl burdened with her effects.

"Helen, I'll carry that. Hurry. We've no time to lose."

At the back of the cave there was a crack deep enough to protect Helen. He directed her to hide inside and await developments.

Jim ran on toward the camp, resolving to withhold a shell in his rifle and to keep a sharp watch on Hays.

The next quarter of an hour was filled with strenuous and unceasing action. Their united efforts collected all the supplies, utensils, saddles and packs, and several of the beds in the three-cornered cave back and to one side of the shack. A huge slab of stone lay across the top of this triangular notch in the cliff. The wall had been hollowed by the action of water. A small stream flowed out from the base of the wall.

It was the best place for defense in the oval, and Jim believed Hays' outfit could hold it indefinitely, though they couldn't save the horses. If it came to a siege they could be released.

CHAPTER X

Smoky came panting in with Hays' pack, and started off again.

"That's enough, Smoky," called Jim. Slocum returned. "Nothin' left—'cept Hank's bed," he panted. "I—couldn't—locate thet."

"Listen!"

"What do you hear?"

"Hosses."

"Jim, keep your eye peeled on the cliff," said Smoky, and stole forward under cover of the brush.

Presently a white puff of smoke showed above the ragged rim. Spang! The fight was on. One of Hays' men—Bridges—let out a hoarse bawl and swayed over, almost losing his balance. Jim looked no more at him, but concentrated his gaze on the rim. Another puff of white! Something dark—a man's slouch hat—bobbed up. Jim's rifle, already raised, swerved a trifle—cracked. The hat went flying.

The horses came over the bench, frightened, but not stampeding, and Mac drove them into the corral. This was around the corner from the range of the sharpshooter of the rim. Bridges, reeling on the horse, followed Mac, who ran out of the corral to catch him as he fell. Then, as they came along close to the wall, Hays arrived from the other direction.

"Heeseman—with his outfit—nine in all," he heaved. "They're scatterin' to surround the roost. . . . But they can't cross—below us—an' across there it's—out of range. . . . We're all right."

A bullet thudded into the wall, followed by the report of a rifle.

"Duck back! That was from somewhere else," shouted Hays.

They dove twenty feet farther back. Here they were apparently safe, except from the grassy ridge of the oval in front, which it was unlikely any sharpshooters could reach in daylight.

After a careful study Jim crept into the brush, stirred by a renewal of firing from the west rim. Wisps of white cloud, thinning on the light wind, located the positions of the shooters. First Jim peered through the growth of brush directly in front.

Almost at once he caught a movement of a dark object through a crevice in the rim. The distance was great for accurate shooting at so small a target. But with a rest he drew a coarse, steady aim and fired once.

The object flopped over. A shrill cry, unmistakable to any man used to gunplay, rent the air. Jim knew he had reached one of the Heeseman gang, to disable him, if no more. Next instant a raking fire swept the brush on both sides of Jim. He dropped down into the cave.

Smoky stood there, in the act of climbing.

"They near got me," rang out Jim. "I hit one of them way over where they shot at Bridges. There's a bunch of them hid on that cliff to the right of the outlet, you know, where Jeff went up to scout."

"Jim, they got us located," replied Slocum, gravely.

"Sure. But so long as they can't line on us in here—"

"They can move all around. An' pretty soon Heeseman will figger thet men behind the high center in front can shoot straight in hyar."

"They're below the ridge now. Look sharp, Smoky, or they might get a couple of shots in first."

"Wal, if they do I hope both bullets lodge in Hank's gizzard."

BEER SALES DROP, WINE SALES GAIN

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28.—Approaching winter has diminished the thirst of California beer drinkers, but wine sales are gaining and now account for almost a quarter of the total state beverage tax of two cents per gallon. Out of a tax of $139,185.35 based upon October sales of beer and wine, $29,768.99 is attributable to transactions in wine.

This announcement was made today by Fred E. Stewart, member of the State Board of Equalization, just prior to his departure for French Lick, Indiana, where he will preside over the conference of the National Association of State Tax Administrators. As president of that organization, Stewart plans to promote a thorough discussion of problems arising out of state liquor taxes.

"California wines enjoy a well deserved popularity in the local market," he said. "More than 98 per cent of the wine consumed here is produced in our state, according to statistics compiled from equalization board tax records."

PRINCE CAETANI ONCE MINED IN NEVADA COUNTY

A recent issue of the Mining and Industrial News calls attention to the death in Rome, Italy, last month of Prince Don Gelasio Caetrani, former partner of Errol Mac Boyle, of Grass Valley, general manager of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Company, Ltd.

Prince Caetani was the youngest of five Italian brothers who are said to own the largest estate in Italy. Prince Caetani during his lifetime was a leader in the World War, a mayor of Rome, a backer of Benito Mussolini and at one time an ambassador of Italy to the United States.

He was a graduate of the Columbia School of Mines and had a civil engineer's degree from the University of Rome. His first mining adventure in the United States was with John Hayes Hammond in Idaho.

The News says:

In 1904 Caetani went to Grass Valley where he became assistant engineer to Errol MacBoyle at the North Star mine. In 1909 the partnership of Caetani and MacBoyle was established in San Francisco for mining engineering and the examination of mines.

When MacBoyle entered the state mining department in 1912, Caetani with Albert Burch, former general manager of the Goldfield Consolidated, and Oscar Hershey, two of the best known mining engineers in the West, opened the office of Burch, Caetani & Hershey, which continued until 1914, when Caetani returned to Italy.

CYANIDE PLANT TO TREAT OLD ORE DUMP

Tests being made at the old Spenceville Copper Company in the Spenceville district, west of Nevada City, indicate that gold and silver ore of sufficient quantity remains in the dump to warrant work by the cyanide process. About 150,000 tons of copper ore was mined from the property years ago. Of that tonnage 70,000 tons of residue remain which will justify the installation of necessary ore reduction machinery. Sidney Wood and Louis Hind, of Grass Valley, are preparing to rework the property.

Mr. and Mrs. George Coughlin and two children, of Auburn, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. Coughlin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Coughlin of Silva avenue, Nevada City.

From Nearby Communities

FRENCH CORRAL

BY MRS. KATE M. SULLIVAN

FRENCH CORRAL, Nov. 26.—A day of bright sunshine, yet the afternoon and evening gave indications of a return of rain.

Thanksgiving is near at hand and no doubt all are thankful for some blessing which has been given them, and are planning some pleasure for others, especially the busy housewife, those mothers, who must ever have a care for the culinary department and plan the good "eats" that always go with that day of thankfulness for the blessings God gives to us. We must mention our wonderful country, where liberty, is liberty in every sense of the word, and we can all help and love each other.

Messrs. W. E. Moulton, F. Miller, E. Haslett, J. Davis, made a trip to Grass Valley in the interest of the unemployed, and to confer with leaders of the SERA. The result of the conference was very satisfactory. Plans for employment will soon be made.

Mr. Thomas Bowes and family, former residents of French Corral, who spent the first summer in Modesto, returned last week and will make their home in Sweetland.

Mrs. Josie Dalberg is visiting the family of her son, R. A. Dalberg, of this place.

The members of Columbia Parlor, No. 70, N. D. G. W., held a meeting Friday afternoon. A short program in observance of Thanksgiving was presented.

Rev. P. O'Reilly held services in the Catholic church in Birchville on Sunday, the 25. He gave a very pleasing and instructive sermon on the observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bishop and baby, Lester, of Marysville, spent the week end at their home in French Corral. They returned to Marysville yesterday.

Our school teacher, Miss Theresa O'Connor, went to Nevada City this morning to be in attendance at the teachers' institute which holds three days session this week.

Mrs. Sibley and baby, who have been visiting the family of C. Graham, left today for her home in San Francisco.

N. B. Bishop and his sister, Mrs. A. R. Dalberg, made a trip to Sacramento today. They were accompanied by Messrs Alvechokff and Prentice.

Why are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moulton wearing such a happy smile today? It seems their hearts are just bubbling over with joy. Well, they are grandparents now! When "the stork" visited the Nevada City Sanitarium early this morning, he left a fine baby boy, for their daughter, Mrs. Frances Baker. Mr. and Mrs. Baker's friends are all smiling and showering their blessings on the new babe.

We were grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. S. Slack recently. She passed away at the home of her son Ira, in Hollywood and her remains were laid to rest beside other members of her family in Lindsay. Her death was caused by apoplexy. She, with her husband, the late Sam Slack, made their home in Sweetland, and their children with one exception of their son, Ira, were born there. Mr. Slack was for many years in the employ of the Milton and Kate Hays Mining Company, and was numbered among the early residents.

A Revolutionary GRUNOW Development

Ever since the advent of short-wave reception, great minds in radio have sought to overcome the obstacles of weak signal strength of foreign stations and, further, the fact that there are approximately fifteen times as many foreign station channels as there are American broadcast stations on the same amount of space on the dial. This naturally causes one to pass over many of these stations when tuning.

It remained for the genius of Wm. C. Grunow to again blaze the trail in more modern and simple tuning of short-wave receivers... Through the cooperation of two of the greatest scientists in radio, working for months in the Grunow laboratories and expending great sums of money, Grunow has, at last, developed the amazing "Signal Beacon." This device enables even an n- This device enables even an into locate, without difficulty, stations all over the world, tuned in to a hair-line and get clearer "Living Tone" reception, without distortion. It is impossible to appreciate just what the "Signal Beacon" has brought to short-wave radio until you have seen it operate, tried it yourself and realized what a tremendous asset it is.

Remember that Grunow all-wave radio receivers, and they alone, give you the amazing Grunow "Signal Beacon" that "Stops you at the stations of the world."

LUMBER TALKS

We've talked about new buildings
And their value to the town;
We've talked about the highways
That lead from up to down;
We've talked about the county
And the gold for which man delves,
But upon this rare occasion
We shall talk about ourselves.
—A. M. C.

COMMUNITY Building has become the order of the day, and in this the Nevada County Lumber Company has a part. We are interested in the advancement of Nevada County, and in the growth and prosperity of every town and city within her borders.

We have selected and stocked materials necessary to modern building activities. You may be planning to erect a fine new structure, or simply to repair an old one; in either case you will find the NEVADA COUNTY LUMBER COMPANY fully prepared to cooperate.

Consult our plan books for useful hints concerning modernization and its costs; secure a loan from your local banker, and then select materials for the big adventure. Modernization is leading the way back to normalcy, and the Nevada County Lumber Company, would be a poor soldier indeed if it were not a Community Builder at this time.

WE STAND READY WITH MATERIALS AND SERVICE; WE'RE IN THE ARMY NOW. LET'S GO!

PERSONAL LOANS BY BANK AMER. AVERAGE $230

Confidence in California's future is indicated in a marked increase in personal loan activity in all Bank of America branches throughout the state during 1934.

The number and totals of personal loans granted so far this year has been more than double the totals of both 1933 and 1932. The average loan was for $230, the age of the borrower averaged 38 years and his income, $170 a month.

Doctors' fees and medical expenses accounted for 33 per cent of the loans, while 23 per cent went to assist relatives and 20 per cent to meet existing bills. Repairs, improvements and taxes accounted for 15 per cent of this year's total, 6 per cent was borrowd for use in business, the remaining 3 per cent being for miscellaneous expenditures.

Twenty seven per cent of the borrowers were clerical workers and 24 per cent public empoyes. Other borrowers were classified as follows: Skilled workers 15 per cent, professional men and women 12 per cent, sales persons 12 per cent, business men 5 per cent, and others 5 per cent.

The growing rate of increase in personal loans during the past few months appears to indicate a decided change in the attitude of the public toward borrowing and reflects the increasing sense of confidence that these people have for the future, bank officials said.

This is the first in eleven years a Methodist Bishop has visited in this county.

NEVADA THEATER SHOWS VARIED PROGRAM FOR THE HOLIDAY WEEK END

Those who prefer thrills, action and excitement with their motion picture fare, will find plenty to entertain them tonight at the Nevada Theater.

The picture is Monogram's "Rainbow Ranch," starring Rex Bell, and this latest of the Bell's series is probably one of the finest of the lot.

Opening with thrilling scenes of the Pacific battle fleet in action, the pictures moves swiftly through a navy championship prize-fight in which Rex Bell, as Tex Randall, wins the welterweight title, goes swiftly to a dance hall brawl in a seaport and winds up on the familiar western plans where the sailor takes to horseback in an effort to block a deep-laid plan to tie up the water rights of the ranching area.

Feautring half a dozen brilliant new song hits including the sensational "Carlo," with the loveliest co-eds and the handsomest college athletes in America, and with a stellar cast headed by Jimmy Durante and Charles Butterworth, one of the most important musical comedies of the new screen season opens Saturday at the Nevada Theater.

It is "Student Tour," a hilarious and tuneful account of the adventures of a group of college boys and girls on a trip around the world.

Youth, romance, music, dancing, spectacle and comedy are deftly interwoven in "Student Tour," and it is being generally hailed as one of the most sprightly as well as one of the most "intimate" musical pictures to come out of Hollywood.

Sunday night the startling court room drama, 'The Defense Rests," will be presented on the Nevada Theater screen. "The Defense Rests" is said to contain some of the most exciting court room scenes yet filmed.

PUNTS AND FUMBLES

By G. W. L.

Well, the Big Game is now past history, all the shouting and celebrating is over. The teams have taken stock of their injuries and the San Francisco hotels have started to repair and replace the furniture etc., wrecked by the enormous and convivial crowds who convened there last Saturday night. Cal is satisfied that they came closest of anyone to knocking over the Pacific Coast champs, and Stanford is thankful they won, by the grace of Schott's toe, and a couple of blocked punts.

The game was a terrific battle all the way through with neither team giving an inch, and characterized by as hard tackling and blocking as fans are ever likely to see. The Stanford team was handicapped at the outset, by the loss of Moscrip, around whom many plays were centered, and later in the first quarter Grayson was taken out with broken ribs. These two injuries practically demoralized the Stanford boys, and the loss showed in their play in the first half, when Cal was threatening to score continually. Then Topping was taken out with a twisted leg, and Stan Anderson, sub fullback, went out with a cut on the head after a slashing tackle by Russ Calkins the Bear center. As far as this writer is concerned the game was just hard-fought, and clean. The charges of unfair tactics are best left to the players, who after all, are the ones in a position to judge, not the gents who sit in the stands and pound typewriters,—and no player on either team has made any such charge. All the boys know that winning the Big Game is tat-amount to a successful season, and are therefore keyed to a high nervous tension. Both teams played hard football, but not dirty football.

Arleigh Williams and Bones Hamilton were the outstanding backs on the field; they generaled their teams and furnished the inspiration. Hamilton rallied the Indians to stave off defeat, while Williams put Cal in a position to tally their touchdown, as he passed the ball for the score, and kicked the conversion point. Hamilton scored in a 22 yard run on one of Pop Warner's oldest tripple reversals. It is an easy play to stop when expected, as it relys on deception and a fast back, as the ball carrier has no interference, after he leaves the line of scrimmage. It was a beautiful play and perfectly executed.

In the line, Russ Calkins, Bear center, and the Brittingham brothers stood out, while Topping, Reynolds, and Muller were the towers of strength in the Stanford line.

It was a great game, and there should be no cause for dissatisfaction on either side.
